Let's Start!

Let's have another adventure in the canyon!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you think you can go on a 5-mile hike?
- What about a longer one?
- Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about things to do or take on a trip.
- I can ask for and respond to suggestions.
- I can ask and say where a place is.

Let's Explore!

Is Vanessa up for a helicopter ride?

* When someone is "up for" doing something, it means they are willing to do it.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: So ... what about taking the chopper tour? Are you in?
Vanessa: I don't know. I am sorry, but I'm not good with heights.
Sally: What! Why didn't you tell me?
Vanessa: I didn't want to spoil the adventure!
Sally: How about going on a mule ride?
Vanessa: Where does it go?
Sally: Oh! It heads south down a steep trail on the rim of the canyon.
Vanessa: Ummm.
Sally: Let's think about the Cottonwood trail. It's only a mile long.
Vanessa: Not too high up?
Sally: It doesn't look bad. There are trees. We can sit in the shade. Halfway down is the Indian Garden. We can take a rest stop there.
Vanessa: That sounds okay.
Sally: Why not take our time and enjoy the day?
Vanessa: Yes. We can take more pictures!

Let's Practice!

Let's take a ride on the chopper!

Instructions: Draw a line from the first part of the statement on the left to the second part on the right.

Learning Points

Asking for and Responding to Suggestions

You make suggestions when you want to decide on an activity with friends. You also give advice on what someone can do in a certain situation.

Asking for Suggestions	Responding to Suggestions
Why not take our time and enjoy the day?	That's a good idea.
Let's think about the Cottonwood trail.	That sounds okay.
What about sitting at the rest stop for a while?	Yes, please! I'm so tired!
So what about taking the chopper tour?	I'm sorry but I'm not good with heights.
How about taking a walk?	I'd like that.
